

How to Receive Our Secure Messages and Files

To protect your privacy, we use secure messages to send your data, using Encyro (a standards compliant secure messaging service). You can read our secure messages and download the attached files as follows.

When we send you a secure message, you will get an email that looks like:

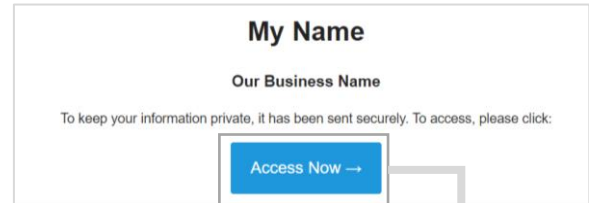

Simply click this button in your email to view your message

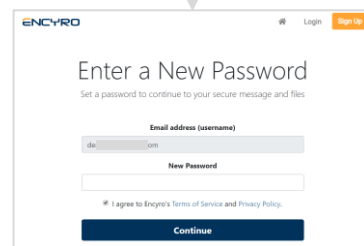

To send us a secure reply

OR

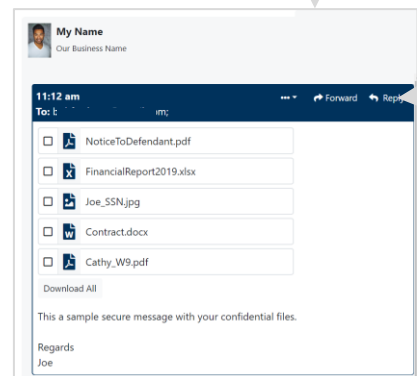

(if you already signed up for an Encyro account)

Or create a password to avoid message expiry

You will see our message when logged in

Send us a secure reply